PROFILE

Self-taught web developer, 18. In two months I went from not knowing HTML to shipping four projects in production, from a static landing page to a multi-tenant SaaS with authentication. No templates: I drive every product, design and architecture decision, and I write the code using AI as a tool, not a crutch. I work fast and ship things that actually run.

MORE

I create content about software and personal growth on Instagram (@trustinraul), where I practice communication and personal branding. Fast learner, autonomous and disciplined (strength training and running).
